Students become involved in many areas

during course of school year

The word ACTIVE describes nearly every P.H.S. student. In their quest for a well-rounded education, they involve themselves in many activities.

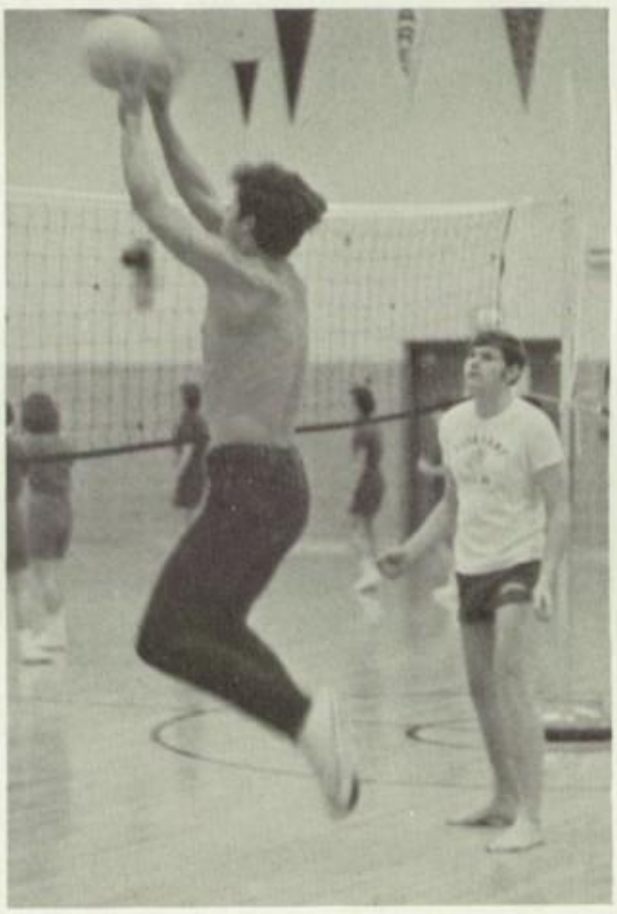
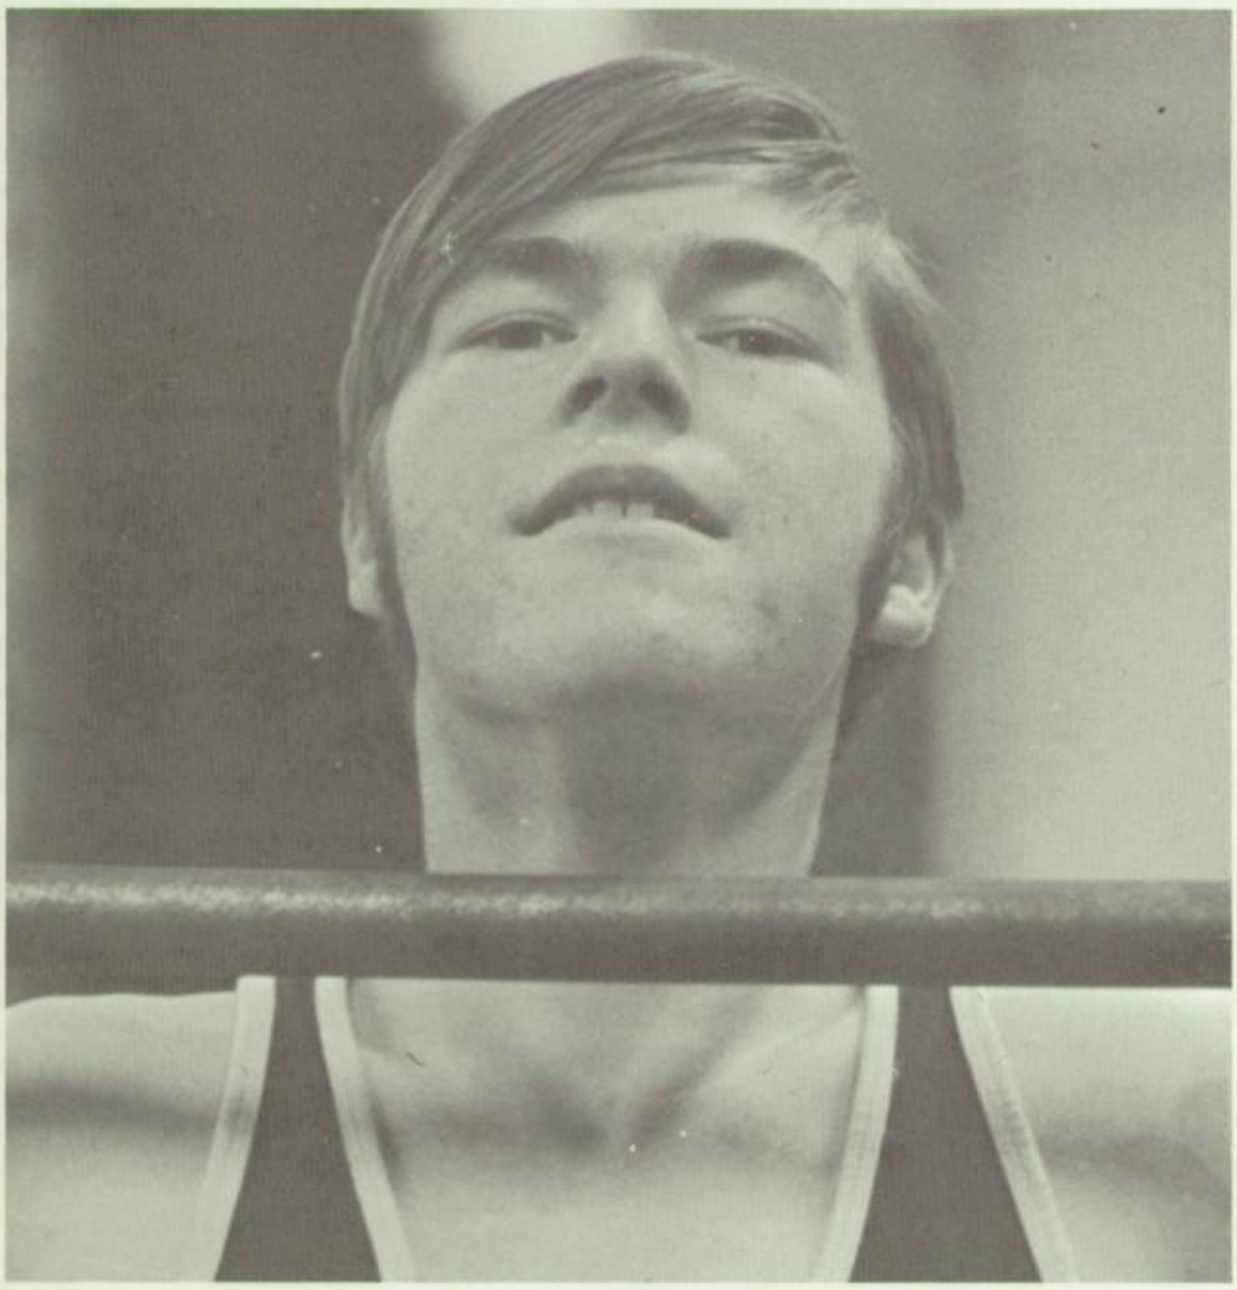
Participation high in sports

Athletics at Pleasant draws more attention and support from the students and the community than any other one area of activity. Indeed, with the wide range of both interscholastic and intramural sports to choose from, everyone can find one to his liking. Not only is the actual play enjoyed, but also the preparation for play.





Day's agenda is comprised of many activities, and each person's deeds affect others in his environment

Each day at school is like a slice of fruit cake. A piece of fruit is a new experience or idea, but these new adventures in learning are held together by the common everyday occurrences which are the dough. It is these common happenings which lend consistency to our daily routine.

Conversation is key to student's relationship with many of his contacts

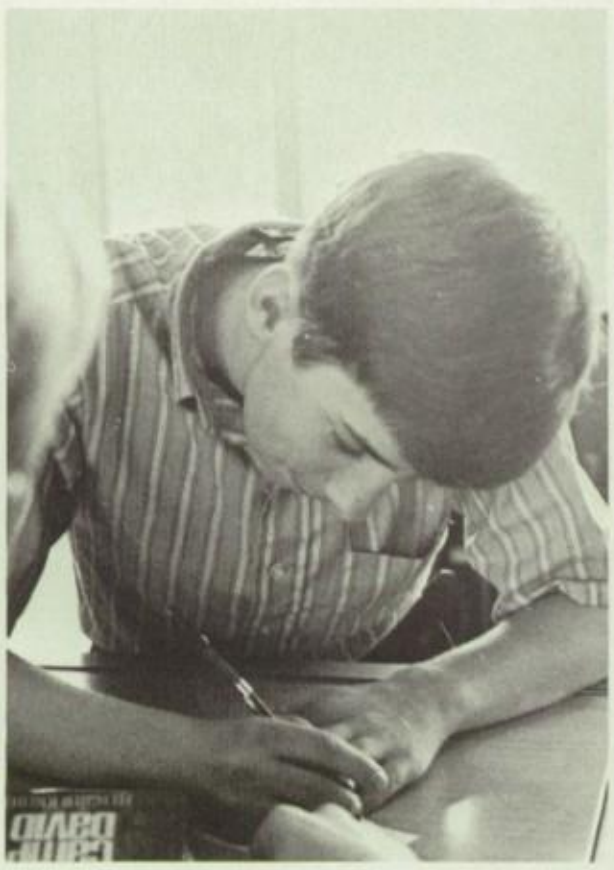
Through conversation and actions we convey to others our thoughts and feelings. This is what a good social life is all about — we as individuals must relate to the other members of society in the search for a better and friendlier world.



Study begins on bus in morning and does not end until last period of day

Because of the wide scope of subjects offered at P.H.S., and because the students actively involve themselves in their pursuit of a well-rounded education, study must be started early and often ended late if one is to achieve his goals.

undefeated, conquers Elgin

Having ended the season with a victory over Elgin, the 1969 Pleasant High School football team has been described by some as the best team Pleasant ever produced. A few of the many bases for this statement is the fact that Pleasant had the first undefeated football season ever, were ranked sixth in the state, conquered rival Elgin for first time in football, and landed five members of the squad on the all-conference team. Other events highlighting the season were the North Central Conference championship, captain Bill Millisor honored on the All State team, and coach Don Kay receiving the Marion County sports honor, the Walker Award.

The leading scorer for the year was Lonnie Granger with 60 points while John Almendinger was close behind with 59. Lonnie also took tackling honors for the season. Quarterback Paul Raulin put the ball in the air a total of 114 times with 66 completed and 4 intercepted.

Also added new this year was the victory bell, constructed in memory of Dave Harris, who was killed in Viet Nam March of 1969.

Since the opening days of practice and Meet the Team night, the seniors realized and fulfilled their responsibilities of leadership to the team. Through dedication and sacrifices, these six gridders led the 1969 football team to better and greater honors. Their talent added more than is realized to the team and its spirit. Without these valuable seniors the team and the season would not have been as successful.

Made by the cheerleaders, the monster was destroyed by the team.

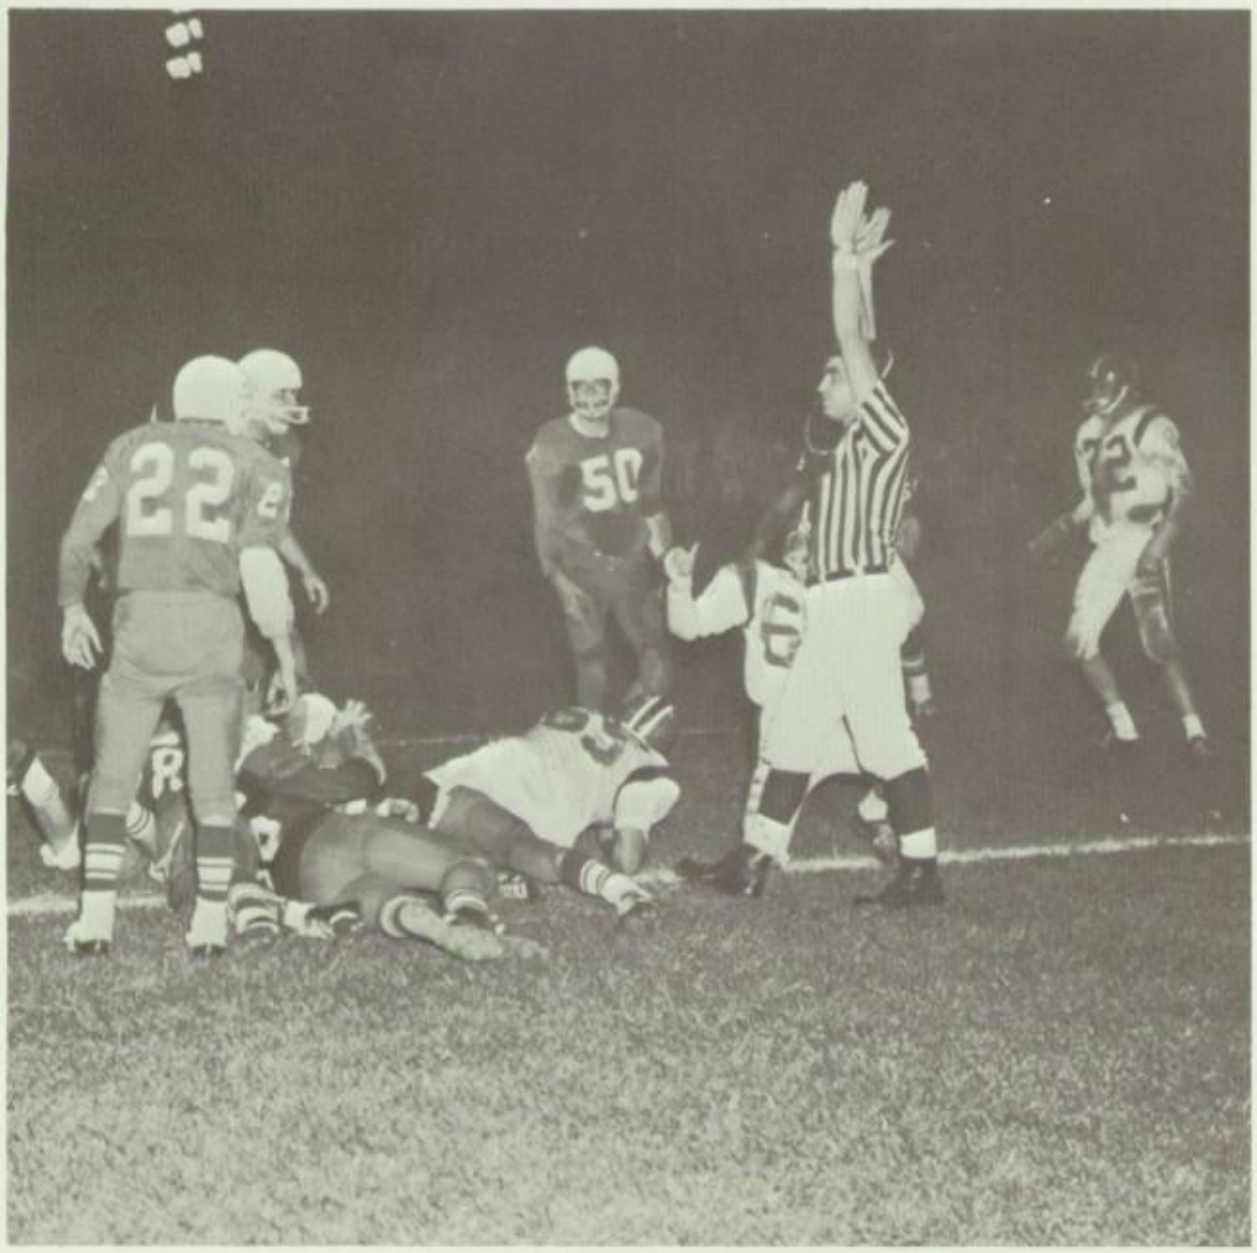
activities of 1969 successful in every way for all involved



For everyone involved Homecoming of 1969 was a complete success. Pre-game and the half-time activities carried the air of intense excitement throughout the challenging but victorious game. Queen Kathy and her court presided during the festivities of the game and the dance that followed. For the players, students, and the many spectators, Homecoming of 1969 will always be remembered.

faculty make unique year

Faculty participation was big this year and was a factor in adding to student enthusiasm. After the victorious Elgin football game, an assembly was held in which the teachers performed their pledges before the student body. The sophomore-faculty basketball game was a success financially and in the minds of the students and community. Other assemblies arranged for by last year's student council had to be cancelled because of various reasons. In spite of this, other interesting assemblies were arranged.

Miss Lisa Haldeman, a senior at Bucyrus High School, spoke and showed slides concerning her one-year stay in Australia as an American Field Service exchange student. Mr. Jim Rausher, a psychologist from Marion Correctional Institution, commented on the drug problem and played a tape made by Tim, a one-time drug addict now at MCI.

Student council presents seventh annual talent show

The Seventh Annual Talent Show proved to be a big success. Students of P.H.S. presented a variety of acts ranging from piano and vocal solos to group variety acts such as "Tiny Tom and His Twinkled-toed Tulips." This act was awarded first prize, with the Pep Band alias "The Baker's Dozen" and Computer Dating receiving second and third prizes respectively. The boys' quartet and a day in Lucy's Toyshop, along with the traditional, senior boys' and girls' chorus lines were also part of the varied program. The Talent Show always seems to invoke wide student participation, and this year's presentation was no exception.

A trophy was given to the best act in the talent show this year. ABOVE: The act "Tiny Tom and His Twinkle-toed Tulips-- received this award.

Curtain call presents MEET ME IN ST. LOUIS

For the first time at Pleasant a dramatics club was formed and named Curtain Call. Curtain Call presented 'MEET ME IN ST. LOUIS' in the round. It is a comedy which portrays a family in the gay nineties. The play proved to be a great success. Their advisor is Mrs. Marion Gemmill and the student director is Mary Landon. The actors are: P. Conkle, T. Gemmill, J. Guy, S. Hazlett, B. Huff, D. Lawrence, T. Leib, T. Narance, D. Rasey, D. Ridenour, M. Seward, M. Smith, S. Turner, D. Watts and J. Baldwin.

Eve in Camelot is delightful

All was made magic in the awe of Camelot on the night of May 9. In the forest of live evergreens was found a beautiful bridge which, when crossed, led to the famed sword Excalibur, stuck in the legendary stone. Fruit punch was served along with a buffet. Merlin the Magician cast his spell with the music of the "Stardusters." To provide a change of pace, Mr. Maynard H. Seiler, Jr. sang folk songs in an attempt to achieve audience participation. The dance was followed with the movie CAMELOT viewed at the Cinema Ohio. As the night crept on there was bowling and pizza at the Plaza Lanes. All these events made the Junior-Senior Prom a thoroughly enchanting evening.

The junior and senior members of the National Honor Society were recognized at the tapping ceremony, the reception held by the teachers, and at the county banquet held April 13 at River Valley. Members are selected on the bases of character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Quill and Scroll, The International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, was established April 10, 1926. PHS is one of 10,000 high schools which have charters; thus, it is a real honor to belong to such a large organization. I. Q. to school spirit wholeheartedly

The 1969-70 Pleasant High School Pep Club consisted of 117 girls, who did their best to keep the school spirit as high as possible. Along with the Pep Band the Pep Club attended the tournament games, as well as all of the home games. At the Pep Club banquet, held May 18, the girls received awards according to the numbers of years of service they gave as a member of this organization. This year's Pep Band played in the school talent show, at the Republican National Headquarters in Marion, and at various other special events. The Dance Band also played at the talent show and later finished up their season with a performance at the school play.

This year at Port Clinton 19 students were judged on their vocal and instrumental accomplishments, with 2 students receiving superiors and 9 students receiving excellents. The Boys Quartet, started in December of 1969, has been quite a surprising success. They have sung at the Festival of the Arts, banquets, and many school functions. The Chorus did such a fine job that they were asked to sing at Trinity Baptist Church and also to put on a demonstration of how a chorus functions for the Jr. High students. The Concert Band had its usual full season with its concerts at Christmas and in the spring.

The 1969—1970 Pleasant High School Spartan Marching Band had quite a full and prosperous season this year. Besides putting on their customary pre-game and halftime shows at every football game, whether at home or away, the band also took the time and effort to travel to Akron to participate in the halftime show at the Rubber Bowl on Saturday, October 4, 1969. Although the actual season for marching band was over, the band members never hesitated to participate in the parades held at Christmas time, at Cedar Point, and in the traditional Memorial Day procession.

Bowling is just one of the many opportunities offered to girls who belong to G.A.A.

The Girls Athletics Association lets those girls who are active-minded take part in planned and supervised activities. The girls receive a certain number of points for each activity in which they participate. At the end of the year each girl must have a minimum of 300 points to receive any kind of an award. To be an Honor Student one must have acquired a point average of 3.5 or better by the end of his senior year. This is just one of the honors the school bestows on those students who endeavor to better themselves scholastically. The Student Council strives to better the school from within. Their projects range from putting on the annual talent show to completing the Sue Parker Memorial Recreation Center.

This year for the first time a debate team and a bird watcher's club were started at Pleasant. The Debate Team was entered in various important matches and placed quite high. The bird watcher's club, called the Bird Herders, had quite a turnout for observing our fine feathered friends. The school paper, THE POINTER, could never have had its deadlines met if it had not been for the willingness and cooperation of the entire POINTER staff. This year representatives from THE POINTER traveled to various schools in this area to observe a typical day in their school. The librarians did much to keep the library running smoothly. From their annual trip to the Marion Public Library, the student librarians were able to observe the different facets of a professionally run library.

Home economics teaches girls many things about themselves, including how to dress stylishly.

The Future Teachers of America, after a full and enjoyable year of Elementary physical education and classroom teacher aiding, took a field trip to the Air Force Museum in Dayton on May 12. This international organization provides a means of letting students find out whether or not the teaching profession is for them. The Future Homemakers of America shows girls the different aspects of a modern housewife. It teaches the girls those "little things" that they might never learn from their normal everyday life.

Discussions of dress codes and religion in classrooms are among the many topics brought up at the monthly board meetings held at the elementary building. Notes of these meetings are taken by Mrs. Grace McMurray, who has been a clerk at PHS for six years. Along with this, she keeps records of all the bills and currency for the three buildings.

Mr. Joseph Short, who graduated from Ashland and Bowling Green, has had his degrees for 15 years, seven of which he has been superintending at PHS. Mr. Paul Midlam, principal, graduated from OSU and Miami. He has been here for 16 years, and has had his degrees for 21 years.

Bond issues, tax levies, curriculum development, faculty, and student problems typify the school day for Superintendent Short.

High school principal, Mr. Midlam, oversees scheduling, teacher supervision, extra curriculum activities, athletics, and discipline.

Language teachers influence students by giving them prose and grammar in class. Mrs. Barbara Callahan teaches CP English 9 and 12, journalism, and general English 9. She also takes an interest in the pep club. CP, general, and practical English 10, and speech are explained by Mrs. Marion Gemmill, as well as the newly-formed drama club. Mrs. Jane Peacock instructs classes in CP English 11, and general English 9, 11, and 12. Unforgettable glory throughout year as reward for hard work

The 1969-70 school year, consisting of numerous memorable events, proved to be the crowning point of four years of high school for the seniors. As a result of much perseverance and determination, the seniors at last reached the goals which were formulated in their minds as freshmen. Through many worthy accomplishments the seniors strove to represent the school as best they could. The Class of '70 will not soon be forgotten at P.H.S.

Those escapades under the lights are still vivid in the minds of senior grid stars Lonnie Granger and Bill Millisor as they reminisce about the first undefeated football season in P.H.S. history.

The week preceding the Pleasant-Elgin football game found school spirit at an all-time high. Tension and excitement filled the atmosphere, as football players, cheerleaders, and spectators prepared for the long-anticipated contest. Focusing their thoughts on the upcoming battle, students and teacher alike did much to enliven the week's festivities. In order to project their enthusiasm to all, the senior girls formed a chorus line, which became the main feature of Friday's pep assembly. The girls danced an original routine as they sang, "What Kind of Team are Pleasant Spartans?"

for class of 1971, term was full of victory and happiness

Working together in everything was an aspect which each junior experienced. Football victories, class achievements, and personal accomplishments are best achieved by working as a group rather than as individuals. As the juniors looked-forward to next year, they realized that they must carry this attitude with them, for without it, they would not be able to be a unified senior class.

For the juniors, the 1970 prom was the most exciting event of the year. "Camelot" involved all juniors in some sort of work and rewarded them with a beautiful sight. The sophomore year is a year of many decisions. Rings! Which one? After the officers have chosen the best three, the class must choose the one they like best. UNDEFEATED was the word in the Junior High this year as two of its teams conquered all their opponents.

The Junior gridders led by the coaching staff of Doug Lichtenberger and Larry Wilcox won their first four games, but upon the last clash, they tied with Mt. Gilead.

12-0 was the record of the eighth grade hoopsters. The starting five consisted of Scott Ballinger, top scorer, Rob Tashiro, Jim Russell, Steve Freshour, and Larry Fink.

The seventh grade basketball team finished the year with a 6-6 record. Ron Wine was high scorer with Greg Coble and Doug Lawson also performing well.

Although the track team won only two meets, many records were broken at various meets. Scott Ballinger set a new polevault record at 10'8" and Jim Russell produced a 2:16 in the 880 yard run.

Student council, cheerleading, band are wide club selection

Whether one is athletically inclined, musically inclined, or just an average person, he can find an organization to meet his need in the selection offered in the jr. high. One of the Student Council's jobs is to plan dances. The cheerleader's job includes not only cheering the team, but also supporting the school as a whole. Consequently, the girls must be able to effectively communicate their incurable optimism. Band members reap a two-fold reward: the personal enjoyment of playing and the knowledge that they add to the music appreciation of the audience.

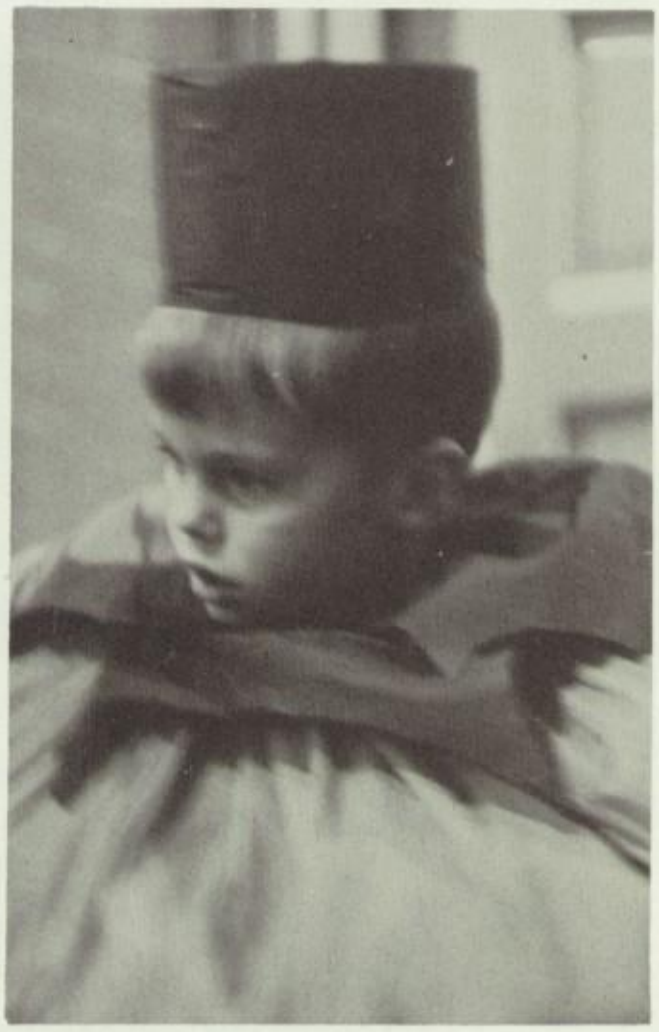
izations let young students enjoy what school has to offer



This year's Jr. High Pep Club cheered the boys on to an undefeated season. The girls were definitely devoted to the team 100% and deserve to be given a blue ribbon for their efforts. Fun night, which consisted of a cake walk, game booths, and a costume contest, was sponsored by the athletic department. This activity provided an evening of enjoyment for everyone involved. Activities like these and many others made the year of 1969-70 a year full of memories for the Jr. High and Elementary students.

School administration and teachers prepare

Supply money, mail, and organization keep Mrs. Smth occupied.

Paper work and student discipline are some of the jobs of Mr. Wilcox.

Elementary efficiency provided by Mr. Hunt allows a smooth curriculum for children.

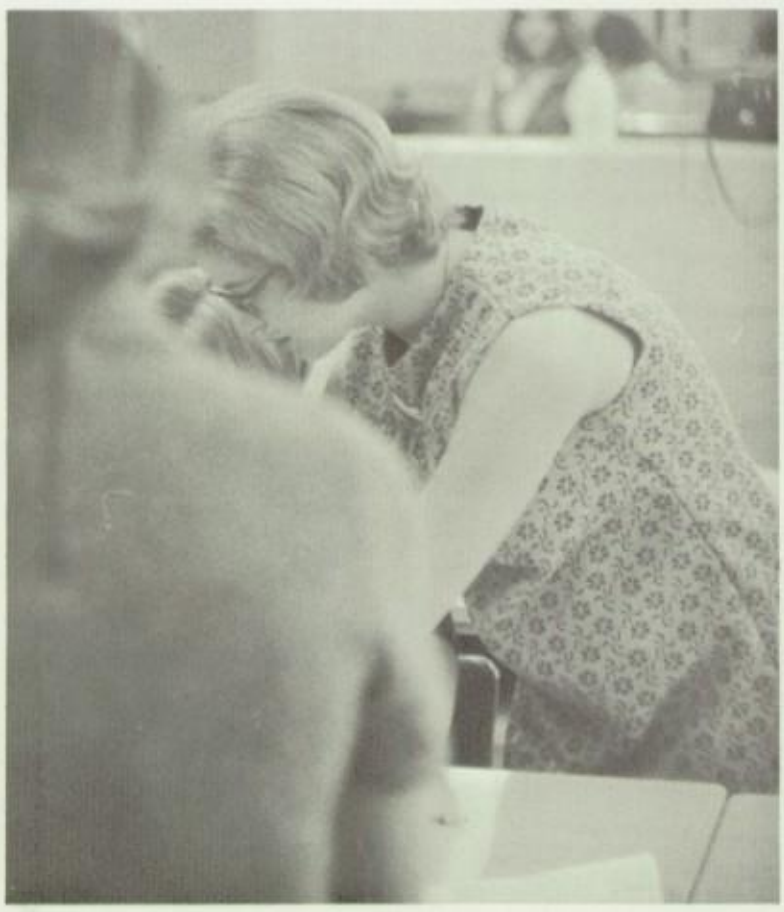
Absentee slips, copying machines, and scratched knees are some of the extra duties performed by Mrs. Phillians.

students for high school

Mr. Larry Wilcox, who has been at PHS for seven years, is the principal of the junior high building. His secretary, Mrs. Phyllis Smith, has been doing office work for three years. Elementary principal Mr. J. M. Hunt has been here for seven years also, as well as his secretary, Mrs. Marge Phillians. Mrs. Edith McMillen, social studies teacher, is here for her first year, as is music director Miss Regina Kellenberger. Mrs. Pat Shelton, also here her first year, teaches history, home ec, and English. Mrs. Geraldine Adelsperger, a 9-year teacher, and Mrs. Betty Dendinger, a four-year teacher, both advise students on proper and correct English.

Pupils hold interest in Mrs. McMillen's classes.

In the teaching of music, Miss Kellenberger finds the piano indispensable.



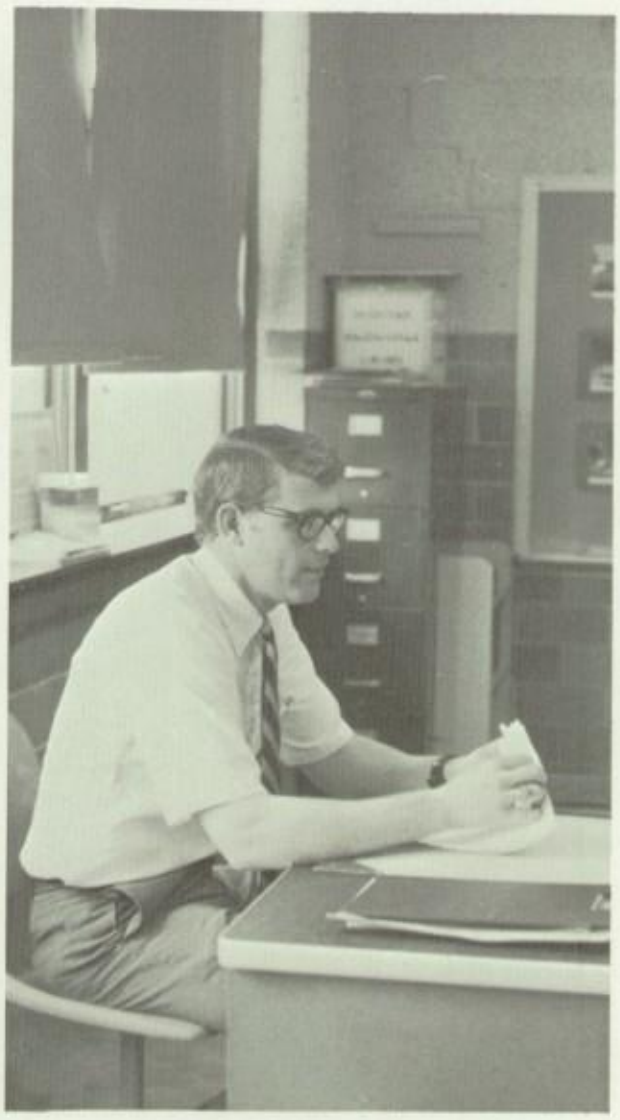
Help of Mrs. Shelton guides future lives.

RIGHT: Words are bases for Mrs. Adelsperger.

While students take a test, Mrs. Dendinger waits and wonders how well they will do in comprehension.

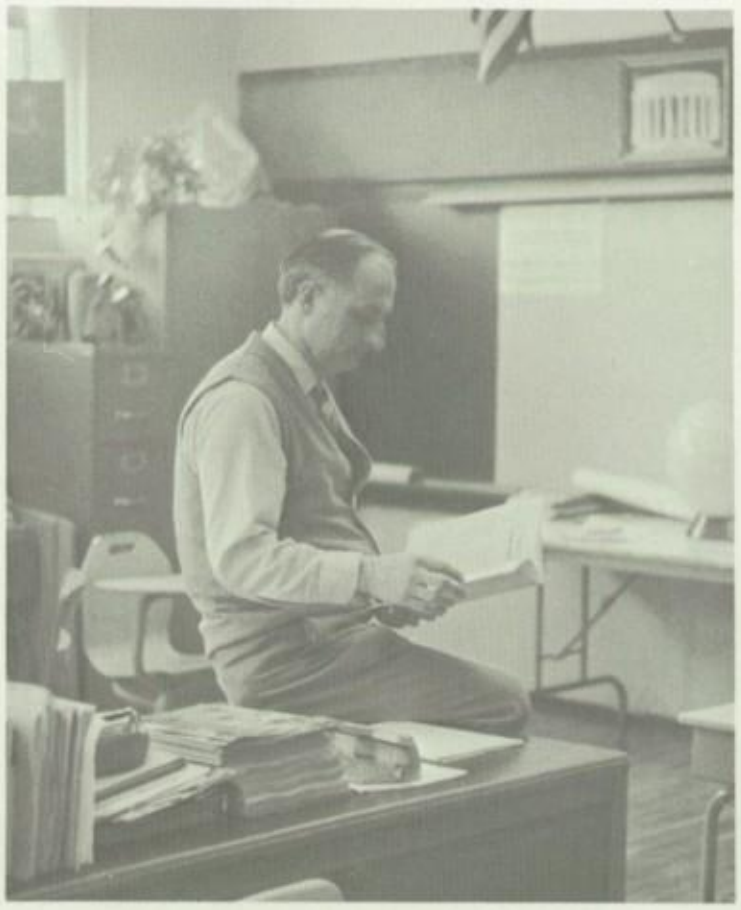
Science, phys ed, social studies give pupils raw essentials

Math whiz Mr. Rush explains rules.



Numbers are Mr. Shelton's tools.

Three-year teachers include Mr. Bob Rush, who teaches phys ed and math, and Mr. Doug Lichtenberger, who instructs science and also phys ed. Mr. Dennis Shelton, a four-year teacher, instructs math and track. Mr. Jim Coffman, teaching math, phys ed, speech, and driver's ed, and Mr. Paul Keeran, teaching science, have both been here for six years. Eight-year teachers include Mr. Mel Sperry, science teacher, and Mr. Les Covert, social studies teacher. Mr. Charles Toms has been directing band and chorus for 19 years, Mrs. Marian Barbey has supervised reading classes for 11 years, and Mrs. Pauline King has been a librarian for 10 years.



A little extra time allows Mr. Covert to skim.

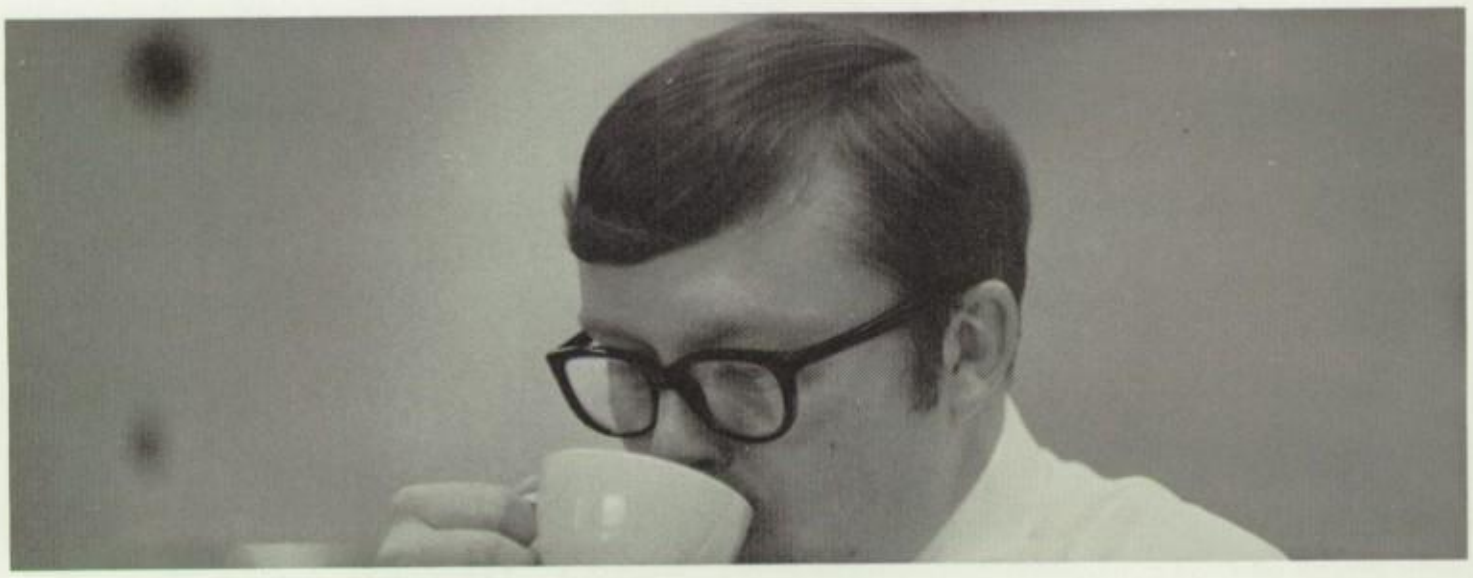
Study halls are always quiet when Mr. Sperry presides.

Lunches prepared by Mrs. Pauline Bunnell, Mrs. Gladys Rippey, Mrs. Virginia Leffler, Mrs. Bernice Dietsch, and Mrs. Hattie Piatt stop the noisy hunger pangs heard daily from the students.



A coffee break interrupts the busy school day of Mr. Keeran.

Timing is the key to Mr. Toms' day.

Concerned and constructive help for students show Mrs. Barbey's interest in her pupils.

Experience of Mrs. King gives students knowledge of books.

ities of whole school system

The Junior High building houses all the classes for grades five through eight. This is only natural, but classes are not the only things that are held in the building. All the activities of the individual classes take place there too. Assemblies, such as the final awards assembly pictured below, are held in the gym. The gym is often the scene for high school basketball and baseball practice, too. The cafeteria, where all the school lunches are prepared, is the site of many banquets throughout the year. In spite of all these goings on, probably the one activity most associated with the junior high is the annual fun night which involves not just the school but the entire community.

WHAT WILL YOUR EDUCATION DO?

Just about anything you want it to do - within the limits of your acquired knowledge.

And there is no limit to the knowledge you can acquire - excepting within yourself.

Neither is there a limit to the accomplishment of cooperative use of the knowledge and education of many.

The cooperative use of the knowledge, education, and experience of the 2000 people of Marion Power Shovel developed and built this "daddy" of large draglines - 145 cubic yard capacity with a working weight of over seven thousand tons.

Your education can lead to such accomplishments, too - if you want it to.

Under the head coaching of Mr. Doug Lichtenberger, the PHS baseball squad finished with a 3-11 season. After losing their first eight ballgames the Spartan stickman won three of their last six games. The biggest victory of the season came at home against a strong Wynford team that won the district championship. The loss to Pleasant knocked them out of a tie for the North Central Conference championship.

The Spartan linksmen finished the best NCC team record ever of 11-0. Their season was highlighted by winning both the Conference and County titles. As number 1 man, John Almendinger established three new records. He set the NCC mark at 76, a county best of 77, and a new PHS record for nine holes at 35.

Seniors Dennis Wine and Verne Ulery helped the team greatly as second and third men thoughout the season. Rounding out the Spartan attack was junior Jeff Bell.

Harriers end successful year

Many outstanding individual performances were turned in this year by several members of the track team. Leading those tracksters who acheived their high goals is Mike Deskins. Mike received a 1st in the high jump at the district meet with a 6'1" mark, good enough to qualify him for the state meet and also a school record.

Several freshman have been busy breaking records also. Terry King broke both the 180-low hurdles with a 22.5 mark and 220 dash with a 25.6 time. Dave Mauk smashed the 440 record with a 56.9 while Gary Jewell broke the 880 with a 2:10.2 timing.

Two miles is an awful long distance, but cross country runners finished in six duel meets and three larger ones. Top runners for the year were juniors Ken Seiter and Don Hayhurst. Ken ran the best time of the year with a 10:14 at Richwood.

The team is still a young one with only two of its top seven runners graduating. This and the fact that most of next years games will be played at home are reasons to believe that next years team will be much improved.

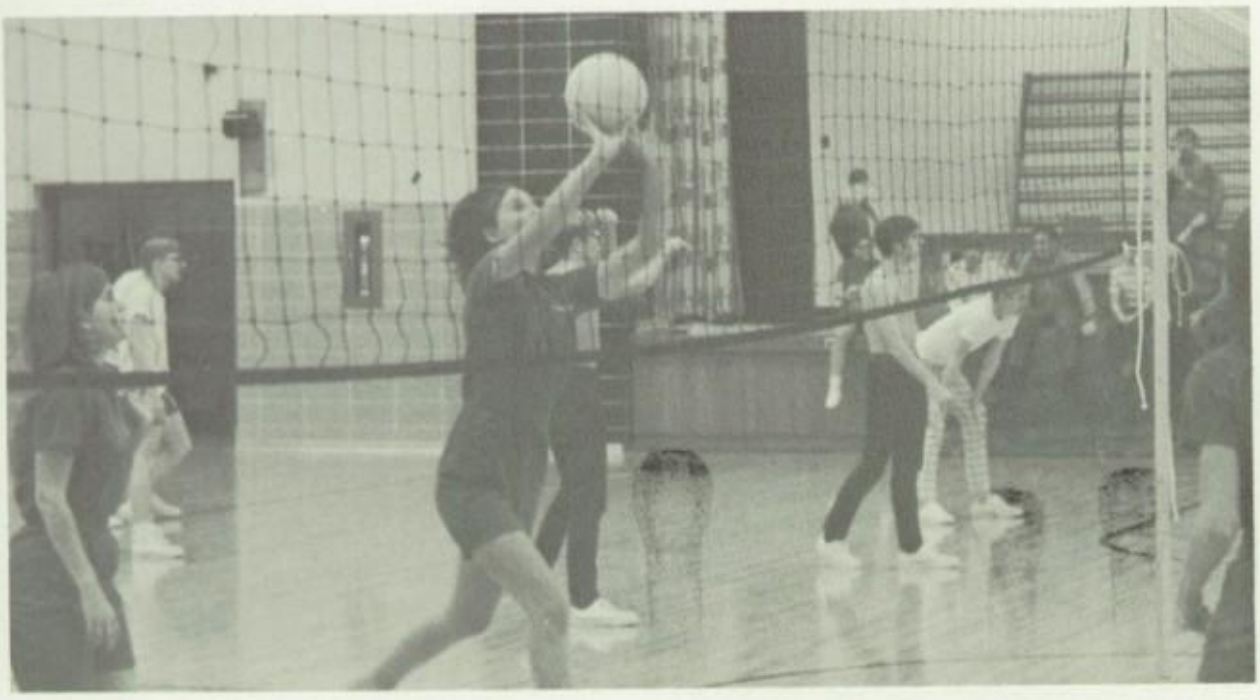
The extracurricular sports program for girls was broadened and widely varied this year. There was something offered for everyone, and each girl could pursue her own individual interests. Some of the girls participated in gymnastics and exercised their creative and imaginative abilities. Hours of practicing during study halls, after school, and on weekends, resulted in proficiency on the balancebeam, the uneven bars, and in free exercise. Several girls entered competition and did well in representing PHS through their talents. For those interested in team sports both basketball and volleyball were available. The girls practiced and tried out, and after reserve and varsity teams were chosen, they competed in a tournament with other schools. This proved not only to be fun, but educational.

organized intramural program at Pleasant this year



Volleyball Champs: Sophomore Sockers; C. Forry capt., T. Paulus, K. Callahan, K. Green, K. Ulery, K. Biggerstaff, M. Clinger.

Having a wide variety of sports in which to participate, the pupils became extremely involved in the intramural program. Students not only enjoyed participating but also watching the hotly contested games. Some of the more involved students often accidently turned up in the gym instead of homeroom classes, demonstrating their large interest in the program. Some of the various intramural sports included volleyball, basketball, ring toss, speedball, and ping pong.

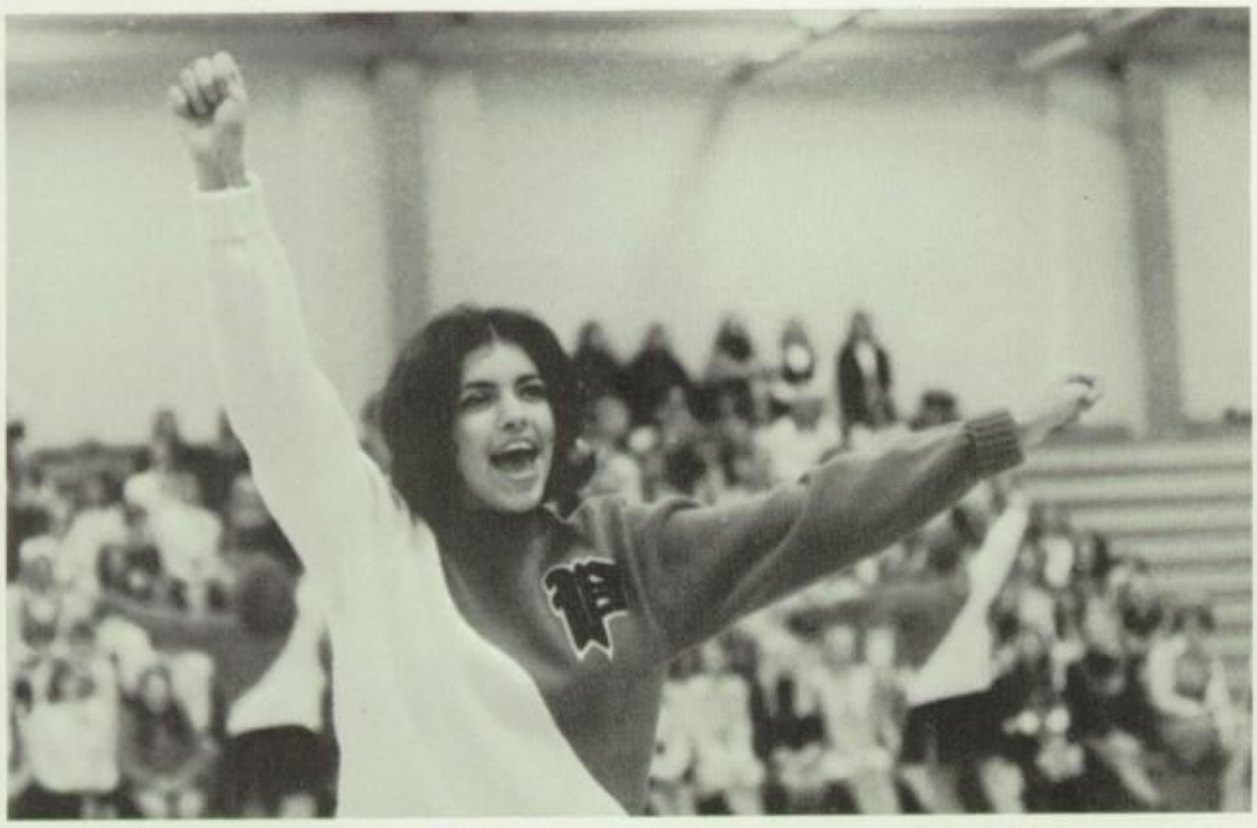
Cheerleaders burst with spirit as they prepare for big games



Varsity cheerleader, Vee Midlam, urges loyal Pleasant supporters to action.

All the high school cheerleaders worked hard to cheer the football and basketball teams on to victory, and anyone who watched them perform during a game was well aware that they were a great asset to the games. Their spirit and determination helped keep everyone from losing heart during hard moments and let the boys know that everyone was staunchly behind them, win or lose.

Summer institute, attended by Georgia Young, Vee Midlam, and Mary Landon, proved to be very beneficial to the entire squad by improving their cheerleading abilities. The institute was held at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, Michigan.

The varsity cheerleaders kept the school and students decorated with signs of spirit while cheering the football team on to its first undefeated season.

Although the freshman and reserve cheerleaders did not lead as great a crowd as the varsity, their pep and drive were just as high a quality.

At the basketball tournaments the cheerleaders are always behind the team.

While pondering his previous season, captain Kevin Benjamin admires his trophies.

PHS hoopsters receive awards

Dan Andreas, starter for the Ohio State cagers, was the guest speaker at the annual basketball banquet. Highlighting the awards portion of the banquet was the presentation of the most valuable player award to senior captain Kevin Benjamin. Other awards were presented to the freshman and reserve basketball teams and cheerleading squads by their respective coaches. Also honored were managers, statisticians, bus driver, doctors, and cameraman.

Although their record was poor, the freshmen basketball team steadily improved throughout the season. Hindered by the transfer of the first five to the reserve squad, the second string stepped in to get vital game experience. Coach Lichtenberger anticipates much from this team in years to come.

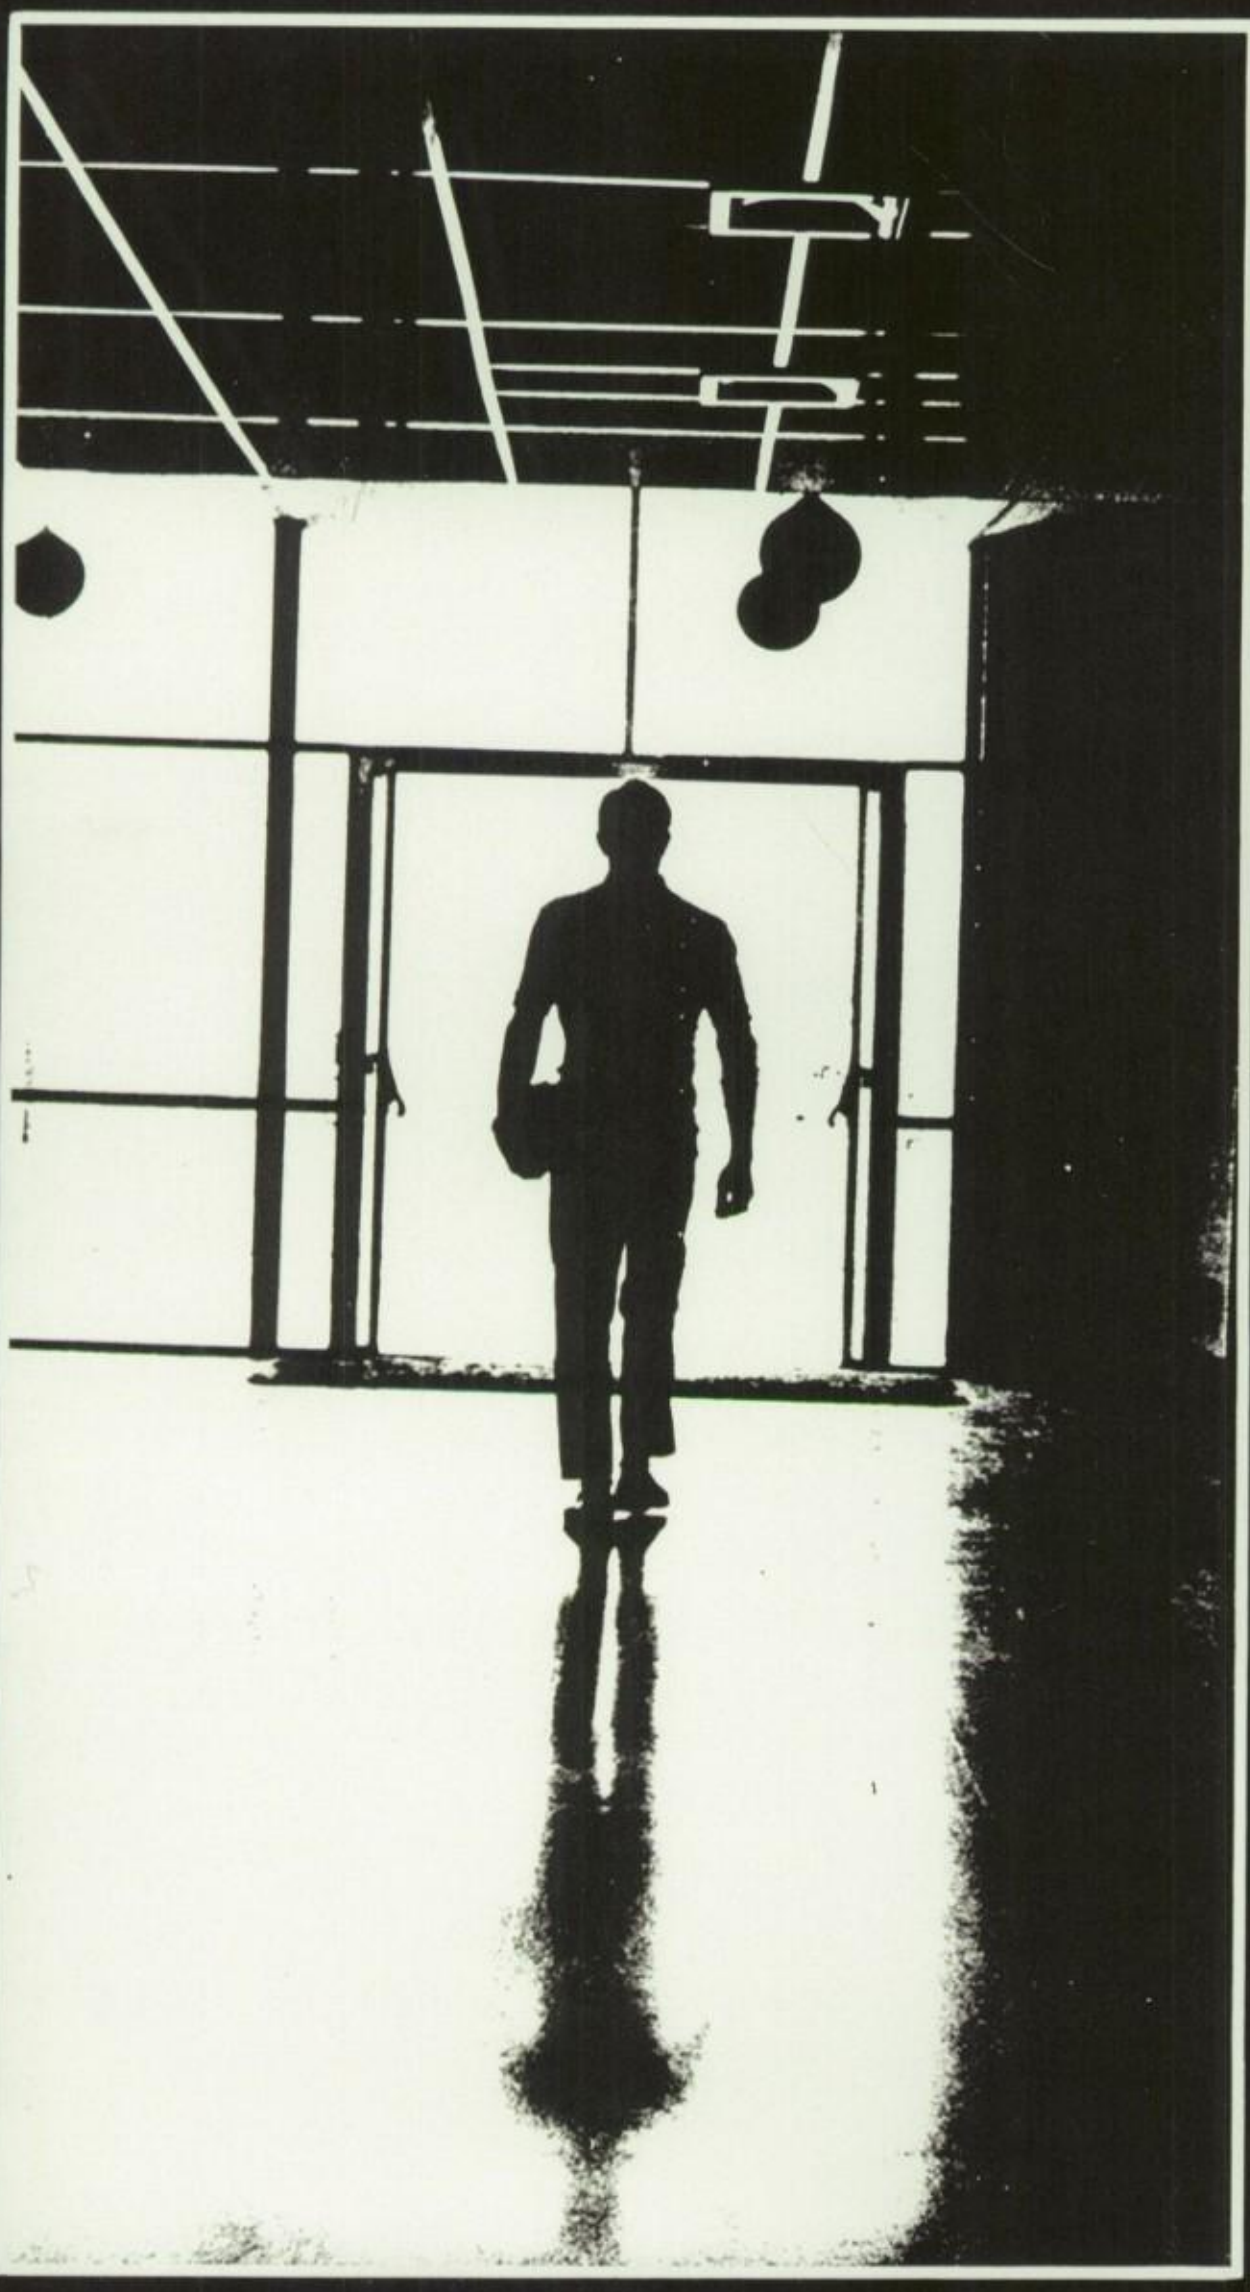
Year closes with "thank you" to all who helped and cooperated



This book represents the accomplishment of the staff, and the cooperation of every person in the school system. Because I can not begin to individually thank everyone who had a part in the production of this book, this column must serve as a personal thank you to: Mr. Earl Parks, our American Yearbook Company representative, for all his efforts to help us improve our book; Mr. Robert Dendinger and the staff for their patient work and encouragement; the faculty and administration for their willingness to excuse us, the staff, and other students from the many classes; the photographers for their coverage of school events; the students for their cooperation in so many ways and for just being themselves.

It is my wish that this book will alway serve as your personal key to memories of the school year 1969-70.
